

think360
ARTS
FOR LEARNING

Programs are offered at no cost to the community.

JOIN TEACHING ARTIST ROSEMERRY WAHTOLA TROMMER FOR ONE OR BOTH OF HER UPCOMING CREATIVE WRITING WORKSHOPS

JUNE AND JULY
TUESDAYS

10:30AM -12:00 PM

6/11, 6/18, 6/25

7/9, 7/16, 7/23

Lone Cone Library

Writing to Remember (6/11, 6/18, 6/25)

What do memories of our youth have to teach us now? If we could speak to our younger selves, what would we say? In this three-week class, we explore how reading and writing poems helps us to be curious about our stories and see them in a new way.

Writing the Land (7/9, 7/16, 7/23)

How does living on this Wright's Mesa inform who you are? How does it influence the way you see the world? What thrills you about it? What keeps you here? What makes you want to leave? In this three-week class, we'll read and write poems that help us explore our relationship to this place we call home.

Rosemerry has lived in San Miguel County since 1994 and now lives in Placerville with her husband and daughter. Though her poems have been performed on Carnegie Hall stage, PBS and A Prairie Home Companion, she's most comfortable in her own backyard growing carrots and feeding hummingbirds. Her most recent book is All the Honey. One-word mantra: Adjust.

(You are invited to drop into any one of or all sessions during these workshops!)

ALL LEVELS OF EXPERIENCE OR INEXPERIENCE WELCOME